Foundation Funding
Opportunities Report
for the Inland Empire

FIRST 5
SAN BERNARDINO

Acknowledgements

This report was compiled by Social Entrepreneurs, Inc., with support from First 5 San Bernardino. It is envisioned to be a resource for nonprofit organizations serving the Inland Empire. It is being provided to the Inland Empire Community Collaborative, The Fundraising Academy for Grassroots Organizations, and Inland Empire United Way to further these efforts.

Background and Introduction

First 5 San Bernardino County has committed to building regional capacity and working with local providers to support their organizational effectiveness. The goal is to create positive outcomes for very young children and their families. From 2010-2014, First 5 San Bernardino supported four separate Capacity Building Academies (CBA) in an effort to develop strong, adaptive, sustainable organizations serving the Inland Empire. In 2014, First 5 San Bernardino renewed their commitment to capacity building by investing in the Capacity Building Continuum (CBC), meant to implement the next generation of capacity building services.

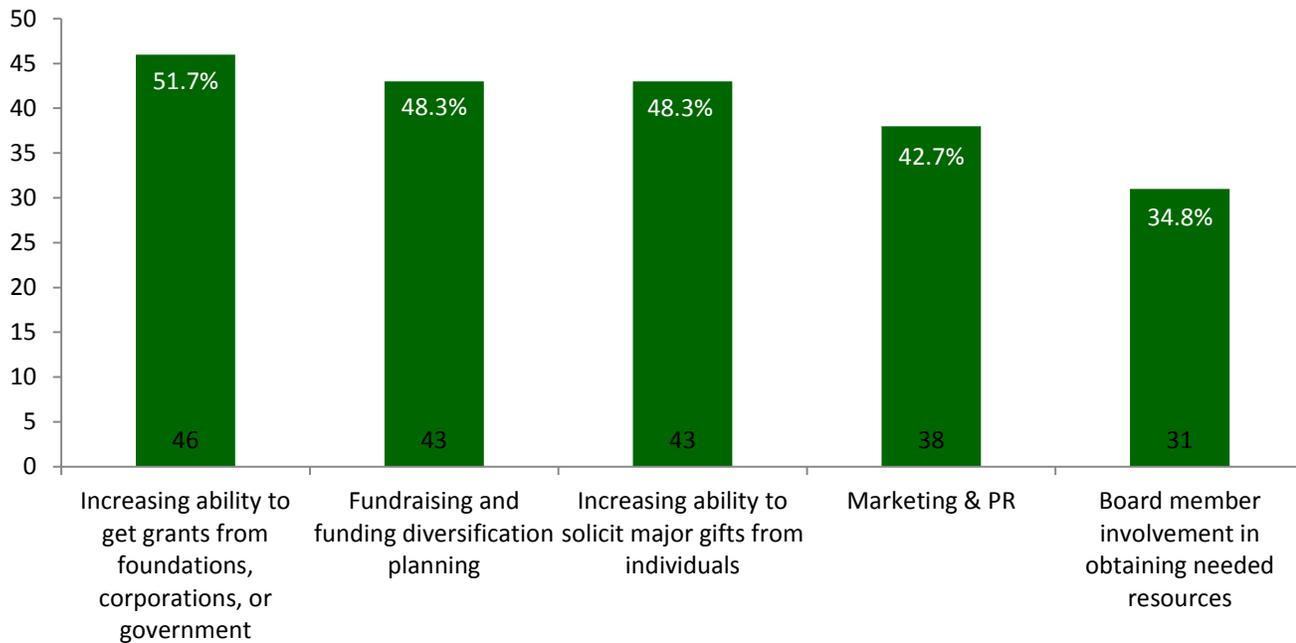

As a component of the CBC, First 5 San Bernardino commissioned the development of the San Bernardino Nonprofit Report which identified a number of findings specifically related to funding considerations for nonprofits in the Inland Empire. These findings include the following:

1. San Bernardino nonprofit sector struggles to maintain, let alone grow. The nonprofit sector in San Bernardino County has remained stagnant over the last 10 years, while neighboring and comparable counties have grown. Per capita revenues and expenditures in San Bernardino County have only experienced moderate gains and still fall significantly behind those of neighboring counties, as well as the statewide average. The amount spent within each subsector of nonprofit organizations is lower in San Bernardino County than every other neighboring county with the exception of Riverside.
2. Insufficient foundation funding in county. Foundation funding only accounts for 3% of all nonprofit revenues within San Bernardino County. Foundations do not have a substantial presence in the county and do not contribute to the nonprofit sector at the same level as in other counties within the region or within the state. Additionally, the bulk of foundation revenues come from a small number of large foundations as 4.3% of the private foundations hold 92.3% of revenues.
3. Need for nonprofit services continues to grow. Nonprofits have not been able to keep pace with the increased needs of their service population. Surveys collected from nonprofit organizations indicate that while their service population has increased, their staffing resources and funding have either stayed the same or decreased. Additionally, they identified increased funding as the number one capacity building need in an effort to expand existing and establish new service options.

In addition to these findings, the report identified the top five capacity building needs of nonprofit organizations in San Bernardino County. As found in the following chart, three of the top five capacity building needs had to do with grants and funding.

Top 5 Capacity Building Needs of San Bernardino County Nonprofits

As a result of these findings, First 5 San Bernardino, in partnership with the Inland Empire Community Collaborative, The Fundraising Academy for Grassroots Organizations, and Inland Empire United Way identified the need to establish resources to help organizations identify grant opportunities that may benefit individuals in the Inland Empire.

Two types of resources were developed to support these efforts:

1. 2015 Foundation Funding Opportunities Report for the Inland Empire: A search was conducted to identify foundations that have provided grant funding to support community based organizations providing services within California. Information about the proposal process and priority areas for funding by the granting source are provided where available.
2. Grant Opportunities Bulletin: A companion monthly bulletin was developed to identify current grant/funding opportunities with approaching deadlines. These opportunities are separated by type of funding source (foundation, federal, state and local) and by the major category of service investment. This bulletin should be generated on a monthly basis.

The Foundation Funding Opportunities Report for the Inland Empire contained herein is meant to be helpful to the systems, capacity builders, and direct service providers within the Inland Empire.

This report should be updated on an annual basis.

Foundation Funding Summary

The tables below list grant source possibilities that have been identified for community based organizations providing services in the Inland Empire. The notes column provides information about the proposal process and priority areas for funding by the granting source where available.

All content from this point forward can be updated, deleted or added to reflect the funding areas for San Bernardino County community-based organizational interest areas.

The program has three strategies: 1) Strengthening: to help arts organizations move engagement to the core of the mission. The foundation believes this shift can lead to the enduring success of the arts as a vital and necessary force in the lives of all Californians; 2) Piloting: to spur and support innovation by arts organizations to attract populations that reflect California's demography and to experiment with new ways of engaging audiences; and 3) Field Building: the development of a strong field of leaders and organizations working together, in a sustained way, to expand arts engagement and increase the relevance and responsiveness of nonprofit arts organizations for all Californians. California Democracy The goal of the program is to advance effective public policy decision making that is reflective of and responsive to all Californians. Grantmaking will focus on the following areas: 1) Elections Policies and Practices: to achieve a California electorate more representative of the state's population and help election systems statewide operate effectively and based on best practices; 2) Voter and Civic Engagement: to achieve a California electorate more representative of the state's population and public decision-making informed by a broad cross-section of Californians; 3) Ballot Initiative Reform: to improve voter information about ballot measures and enhance the system's responsiveness to the public's interests; and 4) Immigrant Integration: to achieve full access for immigrants and their families to educational, economic and civic participation opportunities.	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. 	Employee Matching Gifts The foundation matches the contributions of its employees to charitable organizations. Exploring Engagement Fund The fund provides "risk capital" to the grantees to try new programs and practices, including those that harness technology or use non-traditional venues to stage arts experiences to welcome new participants, particularly from communities that have been traditionally underserved by arts organizations. These models will be shared broadly in order to inform the engagement strategies of other organizations in the field. See foundation web site for application deadlines, forms and complete information. Leadership Awards These awards recognize Californians who are implementing effective solutions to significant state issues. The awards are designed to (1) advance innovative, proven and replicable solutions to critical issues facing California and/or (2) contribute to better public policies and practices in the field. Each recipient is awarded with $125,000 to support his or her work benefiting the people of California. The foundation also assists recipients in sharing their promising approaches with policymakers and practitioners in their fields. Candidates are nominated by someone other than the nominee or a family member. Nominated leaders may be: an individual or pair of leaders; working in any sector; and working in any field. Nominees must be residents of California. Nominations for the 2016 awards will open in Jan., 2015. 	Grantmaking in this area will complement the foundation's efforts to address issues from a systemic perspective. Key strategies: education, advocacy and civic engagement that inform policymakers about policies and programs that address the health of underserved Californians but fall outside of Cal Wellness' defined portfolios; research and analysis on health issues that affect California to inform the field and build awareness; and capacity building for organizations that advocate for public policies designed to improve Californians' health. Target populations: Organizations and coalitions engaged in advocacy efforts; research institutions and think tanks; and grassroots leaders, community organizers and coalitions. Diversity in the Health Professions The foundation seeks to strengthen and develop new pathways to health care sector jobs for underrepresented minorities in the health professions. Key strategies: Programs that encourage careers in the health professions among underrepresented minorities at the high school, undergraduate and graduate levels; that improve admission and retention rates among underrepresented minorities and women in health professions schools and training programs; and that support underrepresented minorities and women in health care jobs through workforce development and employment retention activities. Target populations: Underrepresented minorities and women and girls. Fostering Healthy Environments The foundation seeks to ensure that effective systems, infrastructures and resources are in place to support healthy living in underserved, low-income communities. Key strategies: Support for efforts to promote environmental justice and healthy land use planning in underserved communities; prevention of new sources of pollution in communities; clean-up of polluted sites and green economic development; increasing access to healthy food in underserved communities through strengthened food systems; and increasing access to parks and open space in underserved

	committed to supporting new types of trainings that help facilitate entrepreneurship and experimentation by building skills systematically across sectors. Key strategies: Capacity building and leadership development to help nonprofit organizations achieve organizational and financial stability, improve program quality, promote growth and, ultimately, achieve measurable improvements for individuals and communities; and efforts to ensure that the philanthropic sector is responsive to the health needs of underserved communities in California. Target populations: Health nonprofit organizations in California; the philanthropic field; and nonprofit health executives. Promoting Employment and Asset-Building Opportunities The foundation seeks to strengthen pathways to obtaining and retaining employment to improve health outcomes. Key strategies: Job readiness and training programs; efforts to promote and develop self-employment, microbusinesses and worker-owned cooperatives; efforts to strengthen and improve access to income supports; cross-sector approaches that address financial security as a major determinant of health; policy advocacy that addresses wages and working conditions; and policy advocacy that addresses discriminatory, deceptive and predatory financial practices and services targeting low-income people. Target populations: Low-income youth and adults facing barriers to employment; resilient youth, ages 14 to 26; formerly incarcerated adults; military veterans; and women and girls. Promoting Innovation The foundation seeks to respond to emerging health needs and learn about trends and issues in California that influence health. Most grants in this area are short term (one year in duration) and are earmarked for projects that fall outside the foundation's funding priorities. It will support activities that address health and wellness in underserved communities using unique approaches and tools such as the arts, technology, data, multimedia communications and

	Community-Based Grant Program The foundation annually awards grants to nonprofit organizations located in Union Pacific Communities. Special emphasis is directed toward the capacity building of nonprofits to increase their impact and effectiveness; community and civic engagement organizations designed to enrich general quality of life, including aquariums, botanical gardens, children's museums, history/science museums, public libraries, and public television and radio; and health and human service organizations designed to improve the level of health care or provide human services in the community. What Did You Build? Social Media Campaign The foundation, in partnership with Union Pacific, conducts a contest to honor building in America. Adults ages 18 and over are invited to submit a photo or video and a description of something they've built. Submissions are reviewed for originality, composition, general interest, photo or video quality, and background story. Winners will be selected daily and the foundation will donate $100 to Girls Inc., National Action Alliance for Suicide Prevention, National Park Foundation, or The Nature Conservancy on behalf of the winners. Visit http://www.up.com/whatdidyoubuild for more information. Types of Support Building/renovation Capital campaigns Continuing support Equipment General/operating support Management development/capacity building Program development
